Changes to user access

Sharing logins and brute force attacks

81% of data breaches happen due to poor password security (Source SoS Daily News)

With cyber security something we all need to be aware of nowadays, one of the risks we are addressing is the sharing passwords and multiple logins. We are taking a step forward to addressing this risk by locking out multiple logins, too many login attempts and password sharing. This not only helps with the users own online security, but also helps us protect against brute force attacks. This change is part of one of our ongoing cyber security measures.
